

DETERMINANTS OF FARM HOUSEHOLDS'S INCOME DIVERSIFICATION IN LAP VO DISTRICT DONG THAP PROVINCE

Trinh Dieu Hien, Nguyen Minh Triet

Summary

This study aims to analyze the determinants of farm households's income diversification and propose appropriate solutions in order to improve income of the households of farmers in Lap Vo district, Dong Thap province. Based on the data collected by a survey of 115 farm households in rural areas of Lap Vo district, descriptive statistics and regression model were applied to analyze the current situation and identify factors affecting income diversification. The results showed that 7 factors affecting income diversification of residents in Lap Vo district: educational level and gender of the household's head, assistance to participate in non-farm work, access to credit, risk on income from agriculture, social relations and social unions.

Keywords: Income diversification, farm households, income.