The Farmer Assistance Fund was established and implemented by the Vietnam Farmers Association (VFA) at all levels of the association. Through the fund, it is very important to support capital for farmers to invest in production, to increase income, create a commodity production area. Based on the survey results of 75 farmers, the District Farmers' Assistance Fund officer and Farmers' Association in 5 communes, and towns of Lac Thuy district. The results showed that the demand for loans of very large farmers accounted for 97.3%, but the loan amount was too small on average of 38.27 million VND/household; The mobilization of capital at the grassroots level still faces many difficulties as there is no common process to mobilize capital growth, limited funding, the organization and management system of the Farmer Assistance Fund in the system. The association has not been perfected in terms of legal entities, apparatus and functions, and tasks. The assignment of management and administration of the fund, organization of service activities, no specific guidelines, processes and regulations for some issues. The management and administration mechanism, monitoring and monitoring activities of the Farmers' Assistance Fund are not really clear and consistent. The study also proposes some solutions to strengthen fund management such as improving regulations and policies on capital mobilization, improving the fund organization model, and training fund staff. Improving activities of checking, monitoring and ensuring the fund's activities.
